Brules are Bad and the Sioux no Better.

SOME OF THE SIOUX SURRENDER.

Alliance Men Capture the Nebraska Legislature.

The Railroad Presidents Meet and Confer.

Nebraska Legislative Riddle.

LINCOLN (Neb.), Jan. 8.—The Alliance members took possession of the House at 5 o'clock this morning. They placed a Speaker in the chair and put a cordon of assistant Sergeant-at-Arms around him. When Lieutenant-Governor Mielckeljohn appeared he was not allowed to take his seat, but stood in front of the Speaker, ready to call the joint session to order.

At 9 o'clock the Speaker issued an order for the arrest of the Lieutenant-Governor on the charge of misconduct in office and breach of the peace. The Lieutenant-Governor defied the officers and was not taken into custody. Both sides had a force of Sergeant-at-Arms within call, and any attempt on either side to proceed with the canvass of the vote would have precipitated a row. To avoid this, a committee from each party was sent with a statement of the case to the Supreme Court to ascertain which officer has the constitutional right to preside.

At 12:15 it was understood that the Supreme Court had issued a writ of mandamus directing the clerk of the House to canvass the returns. The Sheriff of Lancaster county with his deputies and the bailiff of the Supreme Court have burst in the doors of the House and fought their way through the crowd of Alliance men, guarding the entrance. The writ has been served on the Speaker, and a motion to take a recess was declared carried by the Lieutenant-Governor. The Democrats and Republicans have left the hall. The Speaker of the House declared that no recess would be taken, and the Alliance members remained and the roll is being called. They will attempt to proceed with the business in joint session.

Some Sioux Surrender.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—General Schofield received the following telegram to-day from General Miles, dated at Pine Ridge Agency, January 8th: "Seventy Indians came in from the hostile camp to-day. They report that Red Cloud, Little Wound, Big Road, Two Strike and others will come in to-morrow."

Later General Schofield received another telegram from General Miles detailing the circumstances of the killing of Lieutenant Casey by Indians, as follows: "Lieutenant Casey was out with some of his scouts watching the hostiles camp, and with one Cheyenne, met two Indians, Ogallala and Brule. Ogallala warned Lieutenant Casey that the Brules were bad and would shoot. As Lieutenant Casey turned to go away the Brule fired, striking him in the back of the head and killing him instantly. There is a report of heavy firing in or near the hostile camp that may be between the two elements of the Indian camp. Secretary Proctor expresses his sorrow at the death of Lieutenant Casey, and says: 'I regarded him as one of the most promising men in the service. He seems to have been brutally murdered, for there was no fighting going on when he was killed.'

The Market.

New York, Jan. 8.—In the early dealings in sugar refineries one strong feature of the market was a rapid rising from 59 to 61 and a later reaction to 59½. After 11 o'clock a stronger tone was displayed, in which Rock Island, Union Pacific and Denver & Rio Grande were prominent from about the best prices of the morning. During the afternoon only a slight change occurred in the stock market, and it closed quiet and firm at small fractions above the opening.

The Glasgow Railroad Strike.

By Cable and Associated Press.]

GLASGOW, Jan. 6.—The railroad strike has opened without any signs of improvement in the situation being shown. The railroad directors have repeatedly announced that the strike was practically over, that the strikers were beaten, and that the usual traffic upon all the lines would be resumed. In spite of these statements traffic has not improved, and the strikers are continually receiving financial and moral support from the various trades unions throughout Great Britain.

By Associated Press.]

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 8.—The Wisconsin Mutual Fire Insurance Company and the Milwaukee Mutual Fire Insurance Company, are in the hands of a receiver. Liabilities of both companies small.

THE HOSTILE BANNOCKS.

BOISE CITY (Idaho), Jan. 8.—There is no truth in the report of the burning of Pocatello, but considerable excitement prevails both there and at Blackfoot over the hostile attitude of the Bannocks on the Fort Hall Reservation.

Governor Wiley to-day received a telegram from Blackfoot, requesting him to forward fifty guns and ammunition. The telegram further stated that danger was possible, and no arms were available, although a permanent military organization was being perfected. In response to the telegram the Governor shipped fifty guns and 3,000 rounds of ammunition.

Revolution in Chili.

By Cable and Associated Press.]

LONDON, Jan. 8.—A cable dispatch from Buenos Ayres says that a revolution has broken out in Chili, but the Chairman of the Chilean Legation here discredits the report.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Regarding the dispatches received this morning indicating the outbreak in Chili, Jeffreys of the firm of Flint & Co. says: "We have had several letters and also some dispatches, which state that the whole trouble is between President Balmaceda and Congress. The people, through Congress, want some laws made which will be concessions to the lower classes. The President refuses to call the Congress together, and does not desire the laws made."

Stewart's Strategy.

By Associated Press.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—During the morning hour in the Senate a number of public building bills were passed, after which Stewart called up his motion to vote upon the financial bill to-morrow, and after a tedious discussion on Stewart's proposition, unanimous consent was given to the proposition made by Ingalls to the effect that general debate on the financial bill shall close on adjournment on Tuesday next, and that then ten minutes' discussion shall be in order and the final vote on the bill and amendments shall be taken before adjournment on Wednesday next.

Governor Inaugurated.

Special to the GAZETTE.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 8.—The inaugural ceremonies took place to-day. The escort from the mansion of the Governor-elect to the Capitol was composed of Brigadier-General Sheehan and staff, Colonel Guthrie and staff and companies of the First Artillery Regiment. On reaching the entrance to the Capitol, the procession entered to the music of the First Artillery band, and in the following order: Governor Waterman and Governor-elect Markham, Lieutenant-Governor-elect Reddick, Chairman Bruner of the inaugural committee, and other committeemen and notables. They were greeted with great applause. Speaker Coombs introduced the retiring Governor, Waterman, who then made a brief address.

Governor Waterman said: "Ladies and gentlemen, this is a sad and pleasant moment. Sad because I am leaving many pleasant friends; pleasant because I am retiring from public political life. This is a great State, and every citizen should do all in his power to sustain its reputation. We're going to have a good year, for we have had plenty of rain. I hope the World's Fair at Chicago will show the world what we have. I had but few words to say, and I have said them. Thank you. Good-bye."

Applause greeted the conclusion of Waterman's address, and the oath of office was then administered to Governor-elect Markham by Judge Van Fleet. The applause which followed this administration of the oath continued for some moments. Governor Markham then made an address.

The Irish Troubles.

By Cable and Associated Press.]

The Freeman's Journal declares the conference closed and hoped it would have a great practical and salutary effect toward the renewal and union of the Irish party.

The United Ireland says to-day that Parnell will make an important statement on Sunday next in the address which he is to deliver in Limerick.

Indian Agents Removed.

The Secretary directs him to turn over the property to Captain Pierce of the First Infantry, who will temporarily act as agent at that point. BEET SUGAR.

Efforts Being Made to Induce Nevada to Try the Experiment.

The following interesting letters between Manager Fulton of the State Board of Trade and F. H. Dyer & Co. and E. P. Lovejoy will prove interesting reading:

WABUSKA, Nev., Jan. 6, 1891.

R. L. Fulton—DEAR SIR: I return herewith the matter relative to beet sugar kindly sent by you, having examined the same with a great deal of interest and satisfaction. There were hardly any beets raised in this valley last season, and I have not been able to get more than two samples, and am not positive that they are genuine, but I send them anyway. The soil of this valley is not uniform, but varies, and no test would be satisfactory except that of raising a good many samples all over the valley. It would seem to me, from the information I have, that the successful working of a beet sugar plant depends upon the following conditions: First, in importance, the quality of the beets. Second, the cost of fuel. Third, proximity to market.

I observe that Mr. Dyer, in his letter to Mr. Gallatin, says: "We are now engaged in building a factory to treat beets, combined with a sugar refinery." I infer that they might be built, separately. I understand that coarse sugar is made on the plantation in a factory, and the crude product shipped to a refinery. The process of extracting the sugar by diffusion seems to me to be simple, and I don't see why it should be very expensive for buildings and machinery. Mr. Dyer's estimate of the cost of sugar making in Utah allows 10 per cent. for fuel. His estimate for Pueblo, Col., makes it about 30 per cent. The statement for the Watsonville, Cal., factory also makes expense for fuel about 30 per cent., indicating that the cost of fuel is a very important item in sugar making. Now, the question is, how much of this fuel is required for power and how much for treating? It might be dispensed with for power purposes. If the factory and refinery need not necessarily be combined, and the refinery is the most expensive for buildings, machinery and fuel, it might be best to operate the factory and refinery separately.

If, for instance, Mason Valley is adapted to sugar beets, no doubt the same will be true of Carson Valley, Washoe, Truckee and Humboldt. A factory in each place and a refinery at Reno to work the crude product from all, would cheapen the refinery largely and be probably the best and most economical way of making the sugar. Should any large amount of sugar be made here it would have to go to Reno to find a market, and the item of freight would not figure but very little as extra expense. You say your people don't think beets can be raised at prices mentioned. It would seem from the experience elsewhere that they can, but if people don't think so it would be hard to get them to try it. The cost of a factory and refinery combined upon the usual scale is beyond the ability of a community like ours. If a factory alone could be built for anything less than say $100,000, there might be brought about a combination of local capitalists and farmers whereby the farmers, in addition to the price of beets, would expect a profit from their manufacture and from the immense amount of feed which would be left in the country from the tops and the pulp. Another thing to be considered is what will be the effect of the two cents bounty. The present cost of making beet sugar is about four cents. That will make its actual cost not more than two cents; one and one-half cents duty of foreign sugar will still leave half a cent per pound in favor of home manufacturers. Now, taking into consideration the fact that the cost of manufacture is constantly cheapening, where is the increased profit to go to? The manufacturers would take it no doubt, if the business could be made a monopoly; but all things naturally direct the attention of capitalists to the beet sugar business. There is a vast amount of capital in the country seeking profitable investment. Sugar is as safe as twenty dollar pieces. I look for beet sugar making to be the coming fur among capitalists, and we in Nevada who are crying out "no market" should be ready to show that this is a beet sugar country, if it is so. I have always looked to Reno to take the lead in all matters for the public welfare. I expected the water-storage question would be settled there. I expected the first creamery would be there. At the same time we must not sit down with folded hands waiting for Micawber for "something to turn up." We want to discuss among ourselves the probabilities and the possibilities of the future of Nevada, what ought to be done and what can be done. Co-operation and determination on the part of a community will accomplish wonders. "Heaven helps those who help themselves." Thank you again for your kindness. I remain very truly yours,

E. P. LOVEJOY.

RENO, Nev., Dec. 13, 1890.

F. H. Dyer, Alameda, Cal.—DEAR SIR: We are immensely indebted to you for your kind and full reply to Mr. Gallatin on our account.

Will you permit me to ask for information on the following points: In a refinery supplied with 150-horse power from a water wheel, what other power would be necessary, and what would be the resulting reduction in fuel expenses? Could beets be grown in the different valleys suited to their culture, crushed by machinery at home, and the product shipped to a refinery? How much waste is there in that process? That is, how much might not be paid for what would be paid in shipping the sugar? I hope we can meet you here later, and see what the chances would be for a refinery in Nevada. Respectfully,

R. L. FULTON.

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 22, 1890.

R. L. Fulton, Manager State Board of Trade, Reno, Nev.—DEAR SIR: Your favor of the 13th inst. has been forwarded to me for answer. In reply to your questions I will say that the water power would not be so great an advantage as would naturally be supposed, for the reason that the greater part of the steam is used for evaporation, and the exhaust steam from the engine and pumps is used for that purpose. It would be hard to estimate the gain in fuel by using the water power you mention. It would, however, be worth taking advantage of. An extra extraction of sugar from the beets during the same operation, it would not pay to extract and concentrate the sugar to be subsequently refined, either in large or small quantities. We will always be pleased to give you any information you may desire on this subject at any time. Very truly yours,

E. H. DYER & CO.

ENMA ABBOTT'S FUNERAL.

The Monstrous Leaves an Estate Valued at $3,000,000. Her Remains to Be Cremated.

The funeral of the late Emma Abbott occurred in Salt Lake City on Tuesday, the 6th inst. Speaking of the death-bed scene, the Tribune says: There were present Alice Ellerton, Miss Abbott's favorite, Miss Nellie Franklin, Miss Vernon, Miss Pruett, Miss Michels, Mr. and Mrs. Pratt, Miss Annandale and Dr. Einkerston. The scene was a very pathetic one, the members of the company weeping at the death of their friend and favorite. Miss Ellerton especially was deeply affected.

THE CASKET.

The casket was one of the most elaborate ever seen in this city, being highly ornamented with gold and silver trimmings on the exterior, while the interior was a bed of white satin and lace. It was what is known as a full ornamental metallic casket, and was of the most substantial nature. The casket was placed on a large platform, and was on which was inscribed:

ENMA ABBOTT WETHEKRELL
AGED 35 YEARS.

MISS ABBOTT'S WILL.

By the provisions of Miss Abbott's will, made some time ago, her father, mother and sister inherit a large part of her estate, which is scattered over the country. She owns business property in Omaha to the extent of over $250,000, while her holdings in Kansas City, Denver and Chicago are large. In addition to this she has large amounts of bonds, stocks and mortgages. Her private secretary stated to a reporter yesterday that her property would foot up to over $3,000,000.

The remains of Miss Abbott will, in all probability, be cremated, and the ashes interred alongside her husband at Gloucester, Mass., under the shadow of the $100,000 monument she had erected to his memory.

LIST OF JURORS.

FRANKTOWN.

A STILL FURTHER REDUCTION.

The Southern Pacific Comes Down Another Peg on Hay.

The rate now on a 28-foot carload is $24. The old rate was $30; and on a 34-foot car it is $30; the old rate was $37.50. This is a reduction of about 3 per cent, and if our people cannot ship hay at a profit now it is certainly not the fault of the railroad company, for they have tried hard to please the people in the matter, and are deserving the thanks of this community. The new rate goes into effect to-morrow.

A Fine Paper.

The WEEKLY GAZETTE and STOCKMAN issued to-day contains 39 columns of carefully selected reading matter, embracing not only local affairs, but the doings in all parts of the world. It treats editorially all subjects of the day, and is the best weekly paper published anywhere between San Francisco and Chicago.

A Progressive Merchant.

A Nelson is progressive. He has recently laid in a very extensive stock of choice cutlery, consisting of knives of all kinds and dimensions, which he is selling at remarkably low prices. He also runs a free intelligence office, and gets most anybody a job who applies. Give him a call.

Bad Manners.

Some of the public dining rooms in town are annoyed with the pet dogs of their patrons. They frisk around and play tag under the table. This awakens unfavorable comment from guests from the larger cities, and it is not a good advertisement for our city organizing a class.

Shorthand Instruction.

Professor Church, who has been teaching shorthand writing for the past five years, and who has just completed a course of instruction in Carson to a class of sixty, is now in our city organizing a class.

A NEW NATIONAL PARK.

The Grandest Pleasure Grounds in America.

Yosemite Valley in California the Heart of the Spacious Preserve Devoted to the People.

Probably few people east of the Rocky mountains are aware that during last autumn a new National pleasure ground, larger than the State of Rhode Island, has been established in this country. This spacious park is in California, completely surrounding the Yosemite valley grant of 1864 and about thirty times as large as that grant. It takes in not only the entire watershed of the Merced river region, as defined by the enclosing mountain range which includes Tuolumne Peak and Cathedral Peak on the north and northeast, Mount Lyell with its superb glaciers on the east and Buena Vista Peak on the south; but it embraces also the noble Hetch Hetchy valley, itself a second Yosemite, and the magnificent Grand canon of the Tuolumne, with its massive walls and domes, and its cascades unequalled in volume of water by those of any other canon in the Sierra. It crosses the Tuolumne meadows and annexes the splendid range that contains Mount Dana and Mount Gibbs and the Mono pass. It has saved the lumberman and the saw-mill the Mono pass, the Merced and Tuolumne groves of big trees, and has secured Lake Eleanor. In short, it has brought within its protecting area all that needs to be reserved in that region of nature's marvels.

The history of this achievement, says the New York Sun, is interesting. The grant of Yosemite valley to California a quarter of a century ago, "to be held for public use, resort and recreation," was a mistake. The valley should have been retained under the charge of the Interior Department for the same purposes, like the Yellowstone Park, since it was intended for the whole country. Such a disposition of it would have made its custodians directly responsible to the general Government, and would have secured the aid of Congress for its care and improvement.

After a time another mistake in the Yosemite grant became apparent. The area conveyed had not been large enough, and the valley was menaced by the industries gradually approaching it. The surrounding forests were falling under the axe, saw-mills were busy among the great trees, enormous herds of sheep were pastured on the mountains and trampled and stripped the herbage and shrubs, while the woods, when cleared of their more valuable timber, were sometimes burned so as to destroy the underbrush and improve the pasturage. Even where the fires were not intentional, the presence of the industries led to enormous destruction from this source through carelessness and accident. All this meant not only ravages in a region of less majestic and exquisite than the Yosemite valley, but the diminution of the wonderful falls in this valley during the season when they are most visited, since the cutting of these forests was sure to lead to an earlier melting of the snows. It was plain, also, that these surroundings for many miles ought to be joined to the Yosemite tract as portions of a uniform system, the magnificent setting of a central gem.

While this project was under discussion some outcry was raised in California against the present management of the Yosemite valley itself. A heated controversy arose, but it at least became clear that should the proposed enlargement of the park be made it must not be done with a continuation of the error of 1864, but a new National park must be founded. A bill for this enlargement had been drawn by Mr. C. D. Poston, ex-delegate from Arizona, but it did not include even the whole of the watershed of the Yosemite. General Vandever's bill, introduced last March, made up some lacks, yet was itself too limited in scope. It happened that Mr. John Muir, the California naturalist, and Mr. R. U. Johnson, of the Century Magazine, had camped together in that region, and at the request of the latter Mr. Muir had sketched out the boundaries of a National Yosemite park as it ought to be. These greatly extended boundaries were advocated by Mr. Johnson before the committee of Congress, and were approved as amendments to the Vandever bill, and the measure as thus revised was passed by the House. Under the urgent personal work of its supporters it was concurred in by the Senate at the very end of the session. In this way the present magnificent area, measuring from forty to forty-five miles east and west, its eastern outline being irregular, and about thirty-seven north and south, was secured to the country as a public pleasure ground.

While the original grant of the Yosemite valley and the Mariposa Big Tree Grove to California in 1864 remains undisturbed it is not unlikely to be placed eventually under the National management of the far greater park which surrounds it. The second section of the act brings the new park under the exclusive control of the Secretary of the Interior; and the provisions of this control are similar to those of the Yellowstone Park. It is probable, therefore, that like the latter it will be put in the custody of a troop of regular cavalry.

There was a second act passed at the same session, and approved on the 25th of September, creating another park in California. It sets apart for National use the tract containing the Tulare County big trees, and this also is under the control of the Interior Department. Accordingly the wonderful sequoia groves of the Sierras, both in Mariposa and Tulare counties, within and without the new National Park, are now adequately secured. But mention is also merited of the public-spirited gift just made by Mr. Armstrong of six hundred acres of redwood land on the northern border of Sonoma County, near Cloverdale, with a fund of $100,000 to support it. This gift is put in the hands of trustees, since it could not be legally given to the States, but it is all for public use.

A lock of your hair does not blaze up when put into the fire it is a sign of an early death.

For a rat to run across the hearth in front of you is a sign that an enemy is going to do you hurt.

A SCIENTIFIC INVENTION.

An Astronomical Instrument Which Records the User's Observations.

Carleton College Observatory has secured a curious instrument invented by a scientist at Washington and called a "personal equation machine," says a Northfield letter to the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

The object of the instrument is to harmonize the observations of different persons who are working together, at different times or at the same time. Astronomers well know that no two persons see exactly alike, by which is meant, for example, no two persons will say that a star passes a wire in a telescope at exactly the same instant. One will record its apparent passage slow on true time, while another will almost uniformly put its time fast. Observers unconsciously form a habit of seeing objects fast or slow on true time, and the better the observers the more steady this error is as compared with true time. This error the astronomer calls the personal equation of the observer. In amount the personal equation varies from .02 of a second of time to something more than half a second for different observers, either fast or slow on true time. Such errors as these can not be tolerated at all in astronomical observations for fundamental or original work of a nice kind, but must be in some way eliminated before final reductions can be attempted.

To accomplish this in one way an ingenious machine has been constructed, which sets in motion an artificial star in the telescope. As this artificial star passes wires in the machine the observer's observations and the instrument automatically records the exact time of the real passage of the star over the same wires. Now both records are made by the aid of the electric current, and consequently are perfectly true. These records are taken automatically in ink on an instrument called a chronometer, and hence their differences can be measured with the utmost accuracy, and in this way the error of the observer on true time is satisfactorily known.

The machine is in use every night that observers work either together or singly, so that changes in individual personal equations may be detected, as well as the differences that may exist between observers. The instrument, therefore, furnishes an unvarying standard for accurate observation.

A WORLD'S FAIR WONDER.

The "Ancient Tower of Babel to Be Reproduced at the Columbian Exposition on."

A reproduction of the famous Tower of Babel, as it stood in the great city of Babylon two thousand years ago, will be a feature of the world's fair in Chicago. The Smithsonian Institution at Washington, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, is to supply the model, which will be constructed under the supervision of Dr. Haupt, the distinguished Oriental scholar, and upon his plans. Erected on precisely the scale of the celebrated original it will ascend in seven diminishing stories, impressive from without, while its interior will be a museum exhibiting life and affairs as they were in the mighty empire of the ancient Assyria, with the most remarkable assemblage ever got together of art works, books, and all sorts of other curiosities dug out of the vast mounds, which are now all that remain of Babylon and Nineveh. Already a Washington architect has completed the plan and elevation of the model, ten feet in height, which will soon be in readiness for shipping to the exposition, where it has but to be copied by enlargement. Final action on this matter has not yet been taken by the management of the fair, but there is understood to be no doubt that the scheme as above outlined will be carried out.

The intention is to construct the building not of bricks, like the original tower, inasmuch as that would be too costly, but of iron and according to the best methods of modern engineering. One disadvantage of ancient Babylonian architecture was that it was particularly unstable. The houses, palaces and temples, however magnificent and expensive, were built, being made of sun-dried brick, with burned bricks only for facing, always tumbled down within at most a century. Such was the fate of the Tower of Babel itself, though it was rebuilt at least once by Nebuchadnezzar. The city of Babylon, which had 2,000,000 inhabitants and covered twice the area of London, stood upon an immense plain of clay very suitable for bricks, and there was no stone of any kind to be had. Myriads of slaves, toiling under merciless drivers, built the astonishing public works executed by the kings of Babylon, just as was the case with the pyramids of Egypt.

Curious Case of Somnambulism.

The Hartwell (Ga.) Sun relates this curious case of somnambulism: "A little boy in Hartwell, aged twelve years, walks in his sleep frequently. In the front yard of his father's house is a large rosebush, and whenever he walks in his sleep he gets up, takes a pillow and quilt or coverlet off the bed and carries them to the rosebush and spreads them down beneath that. A few nights ago the writer was there. The little boy was lying on his bed asleep, but the family had not retired. While we were conversing the boy got up and pulled a coverlet and pillow off the bed. We were told to watch him. He walked out of the door and straight to the rosebush, where he deposited the pillow and coverlet. His mother called to him, and told him to bring them back in the house. He obeyed, and lay down on the bed without ever awakening. He has done this many times."

Liver Complaint—Biliousness.
